In your home

Proper color schemes can make big difference

Good News For Homemakers — HOME ECONOMICS

Did you ever notice how often color crops up in conversations about moods and feelings? People are hardly ever mad, sad or glad. Instead they are "purple with rage," "feeling blue," or "looking at the world through rose-colored glasses." And how many times have you ever heard someone say, "I wish I had a little more color in my life."

There's a relationship between color and emotions and choosing the right color combinations in your home can have a surprising effect on how happy you are. Home economists for a major appliance corporation advised that although scientists are still uncertain about the whys and wherefores of the process, tests show that colors do influence your moods. In the home colors should be used to modify, as well as compliment the temper and tempo of your life. I know you have heard people say that you can tell someone's personality by walking in their home and seeing the colors they have used.

Of all the rooms in the house, the kitchen is one of the most important. Since school, social and business activities separate the individual family members so much of the day, meal times have become a common focal point, bringing everyone together. Choosing the right colors in your kitchen can enhance that family time and also make everyday kitchen chores more pleasant.

How does this color engineering work in practice? There is no perfect kitchen color scheme to suit every family. It is all a matter of knowing a little about the effect of color on people's moods and a lot about the temperament of your family around mealtime. For instance, if you face a group of real grouches around the breakfast table, who turn into dawdlers over dinner, pick them up with some bright, warm, stimulating colors, such as red, yellow and orange. Red is the most stimulating color. It actually raises the heart beat.

One of the prettiest kitchens I have ever worked with a family on is a red, white and blue kitchen. The appliances were red, the woodwork and trim were blue, the countertops were white and the wallpaper had some of all three colors. Undoubtedly, it's one of the most delightful kitchens I have seen.

On the other hand, if your family rises bright-eyed, ready and rearing to go in the morning and is anxious nto dine and dash off at dinner, a green or brown motif has a tranquil, settling effect.

Once you begin thinking about changing your kitchen, it is difficult to stop with just a cost of paint and a swatch of wallpaper. Appliances today are keyed to kitchen flexibility and convenience and should be chosen carefully so that you can live with them a long time. Some appliances have panels that can be changed so that you can do some changing of color or a wood grain effect.

Some new colors that are on the market now are a platinum color, which is a light value gray, developed to satisfy the need for a sophisticated appliance color which can be used with stronger and cooler accent colors, ranging from greens and blues to purple and terra cotta. Grays are becoming the fastest growing color group throughout the entire fashion industry. It is interesting to see how a color not only is very popular in the fashion industry, but also becomes popular in the home appliance and home accessary industries at the same time. Another color that is very popular right now is the toast color. It is a warn earth tone color, developed to harmonize with the trend toward lighter kitchen cabinet wood tones. It works well with a broad palette of solid color earth tones, as well as wood. It compliments both the traditional and contemporary decor.

Another way in which you can brighten up your kitchen or tone it down is with placemats and flowers. This time of year it is so nice to bring in a bright bouquet of yellow daffodils and forsythia. You'd be surprised how this will enhance and improve the mood of your family when they sit down at meal time. If you like less bright colors, you may wish to bring in a bouquet of white pine or any variety of pine. You'll be surprised what a nice scent this will give your kitchen or family room. Also, that spot of green gives one a feeling of aliveness.

No matter what color you decide on for your kitchen or what color you may now have, there are many ways in which you can enhance or play down those colors. Remember, let color work with you in your kitchen.

If you have a homemaking question or problem, you may call 352-8244 or you may write P.O. Box 488, Appomattox, VA 24522. It is always a pleasure to hear from you and to help you.

Have a good week!

RECIPE OF THE WEEK
Chocolate-Peanut Butter Chip Pie
9-inch Peanut butter chip crust (below)
1 cup Peanut butter flavored chips
¼ cup butter or margarine, melted
¼ cup sugar
3 tablespoons cocoa
1 envelope unflavored gelatine
½ cup sugar
1 ⅓ cups milk
2 eggs, separated
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 tablespoon sugar

Prepare Peanut Butter Chip crust. Measure peanut butter chips into mixing bowl. Blend melted butter, ¼ cup sugar and cocoa until smooth in second bowl. Set aside. Combine gelatine. Cook and stir over medium heat until gelatin is dissolved and mixture lightly coats a spoon. Do not boil. Remove from heat; add vanilla. Immediately pour 1 cup hot mixture into peanut butter chips; stir until chips are melted and mixture is smooth. Add remaining hot mixture to cocoa mixture; stir until smooth with wire whisk. Chill both mixtures until partially set. Pour chocolate into pie shell.

Beat egg whites with 1 tablespoon sugar; fold into peanut butter mixture. Pour onto chocolate layer; chill completely. Garnish with sweetened whipped cream or non-dairy whipped topping, if desired.

Peanut Butter Chip Crust
¾ cup peanut butter flavored chips
1 cup vanilla wafer crumbs or graham cracker crumbs
2 tablespoons sugar
5 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted and cooled

Chop peanut butter chips; add to cookie crumbs and sugar. Stir in melted butter. Press into 9-inch pie pan; chill.

Happiness is 4-H

Congratulations to the following 4-H'ers who were eligible to take part in the Area Junior/Intermediate 4-H Contest in Rustburg last Saturday: Amy Muller, Tracy Guthrie, Latrese Lee, Jason Shupe, Mike Luttle, Carmenlita Thornton, Patricia Richardson, Beverly Clarke, Chad Page, Digital Carson, Ginny Sweet, Heather Bryan, Jamie Wooley, Rick Pack, Brett Stratton, Sheri Williams, Suzanne Compton, Beth Marston, Valerie Bryant, Brent Rocebins, Tanya Brochard, Lori Harris, Jon Hammer, Jennifer Carnefix, Tanya Moore, Laura Bradley, Jerry Baldwin, Kevin Ragland, Greg Totty, Nathan Gregory, Sharla Kvasnicka, Mary Helen McLaughlin, Kim Muller, Jennifer Notestein, Beth Scott, Wendy McClenny, Jennifer White, Jackie Megginson, Rhonda Ranson, Terri Hamlett, Dawn Hancock, Teresa Burger, Shannon Williams, Amy Morris, Sally Inge, Robert Coleman, Susan Watkins, Shana Harvey, Barbara Wynn, Robin Fuller and Kelly Hamlett. 4-H'ers from Halifax, Amherst, Bedford, Campbell and Lynchburg also took part in the Area 4-H Contest.

4-H Day at King's Dominion will be May 26, 1984. Organized groups of ten or more 4-H'ers may receive special discounts on that special day. This may be an excellent chance for community club 4-H'ers to attend King's Dominion. Complete details are available from the Appomattox Extension Office.

A graduate student in biology at William and Mary has asked 4-H families to help locate nesting or roosting barn owls. Barn owl (also called monkey faced owls) are medium sized (12-15 inches) with a white, heart-shaped face. Barn owls numbers have been decreasing and there is interest in studying them. They are excellent mouse and rat killers. We have the information about who to contact if you know of barn owls. 4-H'ers interested in wildlife may be helpful in this effort.

Thanks to the many volunteers who have assisted with the 4-H Presentations on the local, county, area and district levels this spring. Parents and other adult volunteers have assisted 4-H'ers with presentations, served as judges and provided transportation. These involved adults are a tremendous resource in building a strong 4-H program

Many Appomattox 4-H'ers may wish to ask for the Vegetable Gardening or Fishing project for spring and summer. These projects are seasonal and are excellent for young people who have already completed one or more projects this year. These two will be offered during the April 4-H meeting.
